Contemporary Living With Style In Sought After Location Enjoy the natural light and space in a delightful turn of the century cottage, which has been restored and architecturally designed. The design embraces and restores the remaining period features while respectfully contrasting these with a palette of new building materials, techniques and colours.

Striking turquoise blue Pandomo flooring throughout the hallway and living spaces creates a bold yet calming statement. The timber and glass staircase acts as a sculptural element within the living room, skilfully dividing living from dining whilst still providing a visual link between the two.

The living opens up through large bi-fold doors to an outdoor entertaining deck and backyard allowing for ample natural ventilation and light.
